

Homestore

Homestore provides second hand furniture to people on low income and benefits in East London. All their furniture is donated and most of the furniture they re-use would otherwise be destined for Landfill.

Why Green Mark?

Homestore wanted to minimise its impact by making choices based on environmental as well as social and economic considerations. The organisation had already started the process of “Greening” when they discovered Green Mark. They decided to use the award as a focus for change.

Green Mark provides Homestore with a structure with which its environmental work can be carried out. It helps identify key areas of importance, changes required and advice on how to implement change.

Being awarded a Green Mark offers encouragement and recognition of Homestore’s commitment to the environment.
