

Modernmix

Modernmix is a ready mixed concrete suppliers based in Bow. They are an independent company serving the construction industry working on small and large projects in London and beyond.

Why Green Mark?

Modernmix has always strived to be environmentally friendly. Applying for Green Mark was a natural progression to their ultimate goal of gaining ISO 14001 status. In addition to this, now that London has won the 2012 Olympics, their geographical location in relation to the proposed Olympic village means that the profile of the company will be suitably enhanced as their environmental status is elevated. They were also keen to be one of the first ready mixed providers to achieve the award and set an example to others.
